Here's a great new Japanese language resource (link provided by a helpful participant on the Japanese is Possible! Forum)

It really caught my attention, since it has a list of 230 verbs, and how to conjugate them into their various forms!

Also, take a look at the recently constructed Japanese is Possible! Mission Statement

-ZU form (part II)

3 lessons ago, you were introduced to the -ZU form. Now you will learn how to conjugate ALL the different types of verbs into this form. Look at the example sentences section below to see this form in action. There's nothing particularly difficult about this form. Whenever you learn something major like this, you should start listening for it. Watching Anime, reading manga, listening to Japanese music...it all helps you to learn how a Japanese grammar item is used.
